Other Comments: In 2014, San Juan Water District (SJWD) was unable to divert the entire amount of its pre-1914 appropriative water right (approximately 28,550 acre-feet per year on a year-round M&I pattern) because of constraints imposed by the drought, the Bureau of Reclamation's operation of Folsom Reservoir, and significant water conservation achieved by SJWD's retail customers of 32% and wholesale customers in excess of 20%. SJWD is projecting its 2015 water diversions under its pre-1914 right to be similar to those in 2014, although actual diversions may be somewhat lower depending on the severity of constraints imposed by the 2015 drought operations and water conservation.
